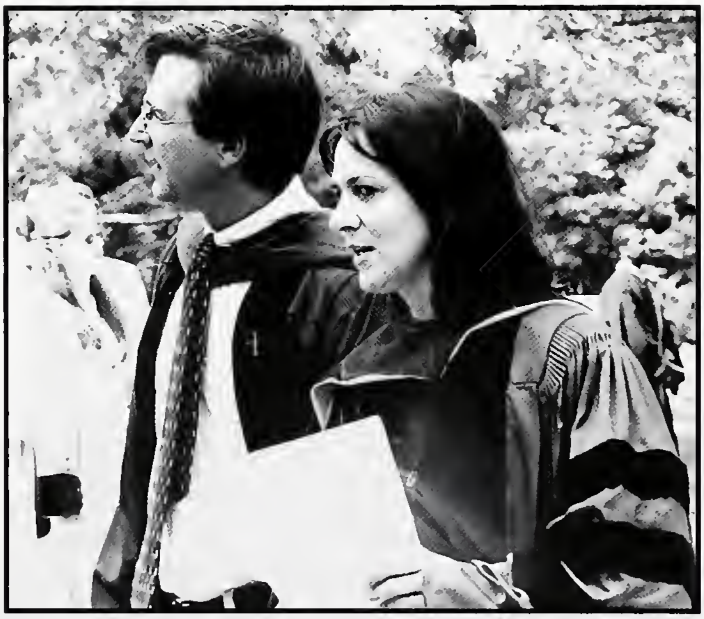
FACULTY

"...With his silver hair and beautiful benign face I had long recognized him as a friend and was enchanted at the prospect of hobnobbing with him as a teacher. I anticipated golden hours and was not disappointed. We browsed and ranged and broke every law of pedagogy. He read me Paradise Lost and Cary's translation of the Divine Comedy and I perceived grandeur and nobility and herioc struggle, even when I didn't understand...



...We pondered and discussed the Dore illustrations, which I am told are pretty bad, but which we considered magnificent. He even told me a little about the epic he was writing... "

Freshmen at Honor Code signing

"Until I came to Sewanee, I had been utterly without intimates of my own age. I had liked children whose pleasures were my pleasures, but they had not been persons to me and had left no mark. Here, I suddenly found myself a social being, among young creatures of charm and humor."

" Three Arcadians on one occasion, I recall, sat through the setting of one constellation after another on a cliff in the tender moonlight with a breathing sea of gray and silver treetops beneath them and discussed the possibility and probability of God. One, upholding the affirmative, announced that he needed no proof of divinity beyond the amethyst smudge on the horns of the moon. This was countered by the fact that this purple lay not in the moon itself but in the observer's eyes. The deist, troubled at last concluded anyway he'd rather be a god looking out than look out at a god. "

“ Yet what they do or know is always less than what they are. Once one of them appeared on the first page of the newspapers because he had climbed with amazing pluck and calculated foolhardiness a hithe unconquered mountain peak, an Indian boy his only companion. But what we who loved him like be to recall about that exploit is an inch cube of a book he carried along with him and read through-for the hundredth time, likely-before the climb was completed. “

THE 2002-2003 CAP AND GOWN IS DEDICATED TO

DR. CHARLES PERRY

This page of the Cap and Gown is dedicated to the memory of Chip Gilliam. Chip was a member of the class of 2003 and served the school as a merit scholar, devoted friend, and master thespian. We will all miss his amazing spirit and energy and cherish the memories of many hours of entertainment he provided for the community, both on and off the stage.

" There is no way to tell of youth or of Sewanee, which is youth, directly; it must be done obliquely and by parable. I come back to the mountain often and see with a pang, however different it may be to me, it is no different, though Huger and Sinkler and I are forgotten. Then with humility I try to blend and merge the past and the present, to reach the unchanging essence. To my heart the essence, the unbroken melodic theme, sounds something like this: The college has about three hundred young men or inmates, or students as they are sometimes called, and besides, quite a number of old ladies, who always were old and ladies, and who never die. It's a long way away, even from Chattanooga, in the middle of the woods, on top of a bastion of mountains crenelated with blue coves. It is so beautiful that people who have once been there always, one way or another come back...Myself one of these mountain dwellers for four years, I have observed them, off and on, for thirty more. It is to be marveled at that they never change. They may not be quite the same faces or the precise bodies you met a few years back, but the alterations are irrelevant- a brown eye instead of a blue one, a nose set a little more to the left. The lining is the same."
